

PORTLAND ART MUSEUM RENOVATION

Portland , Oregon

Bruce Sternberg was construction administrator for SERA Architects for this $32,000,000, 141,000 s.f. renovation. His duties included monitoring existing construction, responding to requests for information, preparation of change orders, providing clarifications and design input, and generally supporting the design architects, Ann Beha Associates. The complex project required a mix of understanding of construction processes and methods, design sensitivity on both a macro and micro scale, structural understanding, and extensive communications and information dissemination.

