

CLIMBING WALL RENOVATION

Portland, Oregon

An existing racquetball court was converted into a climbing wall. Design work included coordinating the climbing wall design with a design/build firm, entry, lighting, and finishes. Construction administration was also included. Bruce Sternberg was the project architect while employed by PSU Facilities Department.

